The New Secretary of State.

The nomination and confirmation yesterday of the Hon. Frederick T. Freling-huysen to be Secretary of State has been so confidently looked for that it created no surprise. The new Premier has a strength of character and a public record which are guarantees of an able and orderly administration of the State Department.
He is a lawyer and a student, and no fears need be apprehended that he will err either in assessing or defending our rights among nations. He will bring into the Government the wisdom, purity, firmness, and clearness which ever characterized him a Senator.

Mr. Blaine and South American Affairs.

Those who suppose that the special envoy to Peru goes to back up the reported attitude of Mr. Hurbut will doubtless find on the contrary that his conduct is to be inquired into, and that it has been presumed to exceed his instructions in a manner offensive to the friendly government of Chile will be recalled. He is said to have declared that the United States will resist any claim of Chile to Peruvian territory as indemnity or security. But, in his letter of instructions on this point, Secretary Blaine said:

The United States cannot refuse to recognize the rights which the Chilean government has acquired by the successes of the war, and it may be that a cession of territory will be the necessary price to be paid for peace.

This is in accordance with the recognized public law. The right of a successful belligerent to treat with the conquered as to the terms of peace, without dictation or uninvited interference from without, is as well recognized as is the right of private persons to adjust their own differences. Says Wheaton in discussing this subject:

In the death of Colonel John W. Forney America loses an eminent soldier, and one of its most tried friends. He always lent a helping hand to those in trouble, and took the side of the oppressed. His death is a loss to us all.
